

$3,500,000,000 New Taxes to Be Asked by Administration

Every Possible Source of Income is Due to Be Tapped by U. S.

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that the administration and both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders had agreed to ask $3,500,000,000 of new taxes to be raised in the next year.

He told reporters after conferring with the leaders that President Roosevelt had approved the program and would, at an early date, discuss it with the American people.

No details of how the money would be raised were disclosed, but the treasury secretary indicated the government would tap every possible means of raising a dollar in taxes.

Despite former policies of the administration, he indicated that such drastic means as a general sales tax, payroll taxes and other heavy money-raising ideas were under consideration.

For the first time in treasury-congressional tax conferences during this administration, Republican leaders, as well as Democratic leaders were called in.

Morgenthau said, "I am happy to say that the combined Democratic and Republican leadership of the Senate and the House gave unanimous approval to this program."

"We reached this figure," Morgenthau said, "on the basis that we ought to raise at least two-thirds of our expenditures by taxation and one-third by borrowing."

"We figure that existing taxes, after adding $1,000,000,000 to previous estimates on account of better business, will bring us $9,223,000,000, leaving us $3,444,000,000 short of the amount of taxes we ought to raise."

The secretary said he did not know how the tax program compared with previous ones, but he felt it was safe to say that it might be the largest in the world.

Congressional leaders at the meeting told reporters that Morgenthau would speak for them and gave no independent comments.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), however, quipped that he was "breathless" over the fact that he had been invited to the meeting.

Even after the unprecedented new taxes are levied, Morgenthau continued, the treasury will have to borrow about $500,000,000 a month to keep up with the huge expenditures for defense and the lease-lend program.

"An ideal way to raise this money," Morgenthau said, "would be to increase everybody's tax by one-third."

He indicated, however, that a portion of the new taxes probably would be raised from persons who paid no federal taxes this year.

To Prevent Inflation

While the major purpose of the new taxes will be to pay for expenditures, Morgenthau said another and "very important reason" was to prevent rapidly rising prices and a consequent inflation.

Officials indicated it was safe to assume that existing forms of taxation would be increased, as well as new forms of taxation imposed.

A basic jump in the income tax, the stiff levy of the federal revenue system, was taken for granted. Based on past practice, this would mean that Congress would decrease new tax rates to apply retroactively to 1941 income of individuals and corporations. Boosts in excise taxes, such as those on liquor, tobacco and gasoline, would apply only to purchases made

Probe of Editor's Murder Continues

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—Police hunted remnants of the old Capone mob today for questioning to determine whether John F. Arena, 43, editor of an Italian language newspaper, might have been the victim of a vengeance killing by hired assassins.

Arena, who editorially accused members of the Italian consulate staff here of fifth column activities, was shot down Tuesday night after he and a young woman left a movie theater.

Lieutenant William Drury said police were unable yesterday to locate members of the old Capone crowd. He said those sought included Philip D'Andrea, former Canone associate and part owner of L'Italia, an Italian newspaper with which Arena's La Tribuna had fought editorially.

Police planned to visit the La Tribuna offices today in an attempt to uncover clues to a motive behind the killing. The shooting was witnessed by Miss Eleanor Hermyer, 17, who said she was a singer and protégé of the editor.

Free Speech

Milwaukee, April 17.—(AP)—A fun-loving group of high school boys, led by an alert little red-head, broke up a Communist meeting in a downtown park last night by singing "God Bless America" to drown out the oratory.

Every time Fred Bassett Blair, head of the Communist party in Wisconsin, warned to his subject—a demand for liberation of the imprisoned Earl Browder—Red led his pals in song.

"Why don't you guys go some place else and sing?" Blair asked.

"You believe in free speech; so do we," Red countered.

Blair went home.

Naval Program is Ahead of Schedule

Secretary Knox Tells Senate Committee of Its Progress

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Asserting that "practically every ship that is under construction is ahead of schedule," Secretary Knox told the senate defense investigating committee today that the navy would have a two ocean fleet ready "at the earliest possible moment."

Testifying in an inquiry into the letting of contracts, Knox said the navy had moved ahead at maximum speed under a deadline that "is always just tomorrow."

"Under such pressure," he declared, "we cannot sit around and theorize on how to reform, when we need something of absolute necessity for military result. We just have to have it, we are responsible for getting it and it would be a criminal act if we didn't get it."

Noting that the navy had contracted in the current fiscal year for the construction of 629 ships, Knox said many of the craft were being delivered ahead of schedule. He said the total value of vessel contracts and orders placed since last July 1 was $4,476,412,021.

At the same time, he said, the navy had let contracts for 6,038 planes in the current year.

Spring "Clean Up" Campaign Starts

Commissioner Joe E. Vaile of the city street department and President Walter C. Knack of the Chamber of Commerce are cooperating in a spring "clean-up" campaign in Dixon. Citizens are urged to enter into the spirit of the program by raking and cleaning the properties and generally improving the appearances of the residences and surroundings.

The street department force has been busy for several days hauling the customary spring accumulations of rubbish from streets and alleys and in cleaning the streets. Commissioner Vaile has called attention to the city ordinances which are being violated in some instances, and which are to be enforced.

Citizens are urged to place rubbish in containers which will be collected and hauled away, but the ordinances prohibit raking rubbish and refuse into the streets and alleys. The recent mild weather has resulted in an early "clean up" of yards and lawns. The burning of rubbish in streets and alleys is also prohibited under the city ordinances.

Southpaws Resent Dragging Sleeves Through Their Spuds to Reach Coffee

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—Fifty southpaws who are proud to be left-handed were united today in protest against always being left out.

At the first annual meeting of the International Association for Protection of the Rights of Left-handers last night, a left-handed monkey wrench was thrown into the machine that dictates the world should be made for right-handers.

"We resent having to drag our sleeves through the mashed potatoes in order to reach the coffee," declared Judge Joseph A. Graber of the Criminal court, chairman of the constitution committee.

"We ask left-handed gear shift on automobiles, telephone receiver hooks on the right-hand side so

Attorney General Asked to Act on Charge of Director Osborne

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—The joint legislative committee investigating civil service practices in Illinois today had testimony in its record charging that several former employees of the conservation department had held full time jobs in private businesses while receiving salaries and large expense accounts from the state.

The testimony was given at a committee hearing yesterday by Conservation Director Livingston E. Osborne who revealed that he had asked Attorney General George F. Barrett to investigate his charges.

Osborne said he had written to Republican county chairmen "in every county of the state" asking information as to the background of men working as game wardens shortly after he was appointed by Governor Green.

The conservation director said James Dewitt of Elco had taught school with a 93.3 attendance record while employed as a conservation investigator and that Conn J. McMahon of Charleston, another former investigator, had been employed as a full-time clerk by the Nickel Plate railroad concurrently with his state position.

Other former game wardens accused by the director included Edward H. Stieger of Cullom, Democratic committeeman of Sullivan township, Livingston county, who Osborne said operated a hardware store while on the state payroll; Raleigh Eichorn of Golconda, a gasoline station operator for 12 years; Charles R. Hill of Rankin, editor of the Rankin Independent for eight years; Clyde Thompson of Wataga, groceryman; Bascom Beets of Arenzville, owner of a truck and dray business; and Sherman E. Hall of

No Government Control of News as Far as FDR is Concerned, He Says

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told the nation's editors today that as far as he was concerned "there will be no government control of news unless it be of vital military information."

In a letter to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, read to the organization's 19th annual convention by Tom Wallace, its president, the chief executive declared free speech was in "undisputed possession" of the press, magazines, motion pictures, and the radio and so far as he was concerned "it will remain there for that is where it belongs."

Wallace, editor of the Louisville Times, called for more attention to commercial and political problems in Latin America in his opening address. He said Roosevelt's letter "may become a very historic document."

Says Bridges Attended Meeting Only for Reds

San Francisco, April 17.—(AP)—Harry Bridges, alien leader of west coast waterfront unions, in 1934 attended a convention to which only members of the Communist party were admitted, a government witness testified at Bridges' deportation hearing.

Sam Diner, who identified himself as a former Communist official, said yesterday that Bridges reported to the party's trade union committee of which Diner was chairman. The report concerned the 1934 San Francisco general strike.

Deportation of Bridges to his native Australia is sought on the grounds he has been affiliated with an organization advocating violent overthrow of the government.

Test of Authority to "Freeze" Price of Steel Possible

Industry Reported to Be Making Plans to Contest Order

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Steel industry leaders were reported today to be considering a test of President Roosevelt's price control authority because of an administrative order freezing steel and iron prices.

The order, fixing prices at the level of the first quarter of this year, was issued by Leon Henderson, who was recently named price administrator by Roosevelt. In announcing it last night, Henderson said it was designed to prevent price increases resulting from wage rises granted this week by two-thirds of the industry.

An increase in prices now, Henderson asserted, "might touch off a general increase in the cost of living and start the country off on the road to price inflation."

At the same time, he made it clear that upward adjustments might be permitted in the future if a thorough study of prices and costs in the industry indicated they were necessary.

Henderson's order gave no authority for his action other than the apparent powers derived from his presidentially-created position of price administrator. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and other members of Congress have contended that the President had no authority to set up the price control agency.

Profess Surprise

Steel men professed to be taken completely by surprise. They had argued that the 10-cents an hour wage boost made higher prices inevitable, and it was understood that they were at the point of effecting increases.

The form a test might take appeared uncertain at this stage of developments. Some informed persons thought legal procedure might be resorted to, but others speculated that one or more companies simply might defy Henderson's order, institute price increases and leave up to the government the problem of enforcement.

Steel and iron constituted the sixth commodity on which Henderson has issued ceiling prices. Among the other five was coal. Yesterday Henderson relaxed the coal order to permit price adjustments necessary to bring coal prices into line with higher production costs accompanying wage increases in northern mines.

1941 Farm Parity Rates Announced

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Secretary Wickard announced today rates of parity payments to be made to farmers who plant within 1941 AAA acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco.

The rates were: cotton 1.38 cents a pound; wheat 10 cents a bushel; corn 5 cents a bushel; rice 20 cents a hundred-weight; flue-cured tobacco 0.6 cents a pound.

The payments will be made from $212,000,000 appropriated by Congress last year. These payments are designed to help boost farm income from the basic crops toward the administration's goal of "parity" or "fair exchange value" for farm products.

(Parity is defined by administration economists as a price level which would give farm products purchasing power in terms of non-farm products and services equivalent to that of a base period, set at 1909-14.)

In addition to the parity payments, farmers who co-operate with the AAA programs will receive soil conservation payments in 1941 at the following rates: cotton 1.37 cents per pound; wheat 8 cents per bushel; corn 9 cents per bushel; rice 5.5 cents per hundred weight.

Relief Clients Must Make Five Efforts to Get Job to Get Help

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission is instructing local relief authorities to halt aid to all employable on their rolls until they have proved they tried to obtain work from at least five potential employers.

"This step has been taken in accordance with the commission's basic policy of considering relief as a means of livelihood only after all other resources have been exhausted," Leo M. Lyons, commission executive secretary, said.

"Relief rolls in Illinois have been decreasing steadily for a period of six months, and with a seasonal increase in agricultural and other types of employment and increased industrial activity in conjunction with defense production, this increase is being accentuated."

Local officials will notify every employable on the rolls that with the issuance of the current grant no further aid will be given until he has submitted evidence of efforts to find work.

Mothers' Failure to Nurse Babies Reflected in Drafts' Poor Teeth

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—The reason why nearly three times more potential draftees are being rejected for bad teeth now than in the World war is probably due to American mothers' stopping nursing their babies.

This explanation was proposed to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology today by Dr. C. G. King, famous vitamin expert of the University of Pittsburgh.

Teeth, he said, are the first "tissue" of the body to be affected by lack of vitamin C. This does not mean much to adults, whose teeth are already formed, but it is important to babies.

Mother's milk, he went on, contains four to five times more vitamin C than raw cow's milk. However, the babies were not given the raw milk, but pasteurized or evaporated milk.

No Other Guy

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—Two men hailed Ernest DePerro's taxicab early today, then drew pistols.

"You're too late," DePerro said in an almost regretful tone. "I was just robbed by another guy and was on my way to the police station to report it."

The men cursed, put away their weapons and walked away.

DePerro was only fooling. There was no other guy.

Bills to Levy New Taxes Go Forward

Teachers Minimum Wage Bill Runs Into Set-Back in House

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—The Allison-Uphurch bill to establish a minimum wage of $100 a month for public school teachers received its first set-back in the Illinois House today when it failed to receive the necessary 77 votes for passage.

Rep. Robert H. Allison (R-Pekin) co-sponsor of the wage bill, saved the measure from final defeat, however, by moving to postpone consideration when only 51 legislators voted for the controversial legislation. Under the House rules, the bill may be called later.

Opposition to the bill, which aimed at raising the salaries of 9,000 school teachers now receiving less than $100 a month, was led by Rep. Robert J. Branson (R-Centralia), who declared that the legislature "has no right to tell the local school boards how to conduct their affairs."

Rep. John A. Bingham (R-Galena) opposed the minimum wage bill, declaring that school boards with insufficient funds would have to cut the length of the school year.

30 Legislators Absent

Rep. Allison attributed the low vote to the fact that nearly 30 legislators were absent from the Thursday session. When he asked for postponement of the balloting, the vote stood at 51 to 34 in favor of the bill. Seventy-seven votes are needed for passage.

Governor Green's program for new taxes on oil production and cigarettes and for doubled levies on beer and liquor advanced in the House and Senate.

In the House, the Rensick bill for a two-cent package tax on cigarettes was moved up without debate to second reading; the amendment stage. In the Senate, bill for a three per cent oil pro-

Contract Awarded for Staff House at Dixon State Hospital Today

Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer at the Dixon state hospital, announced today the awarding of the contract for the construction of a staff house at the institution this summer. The Johnson Construction Company of Chicago have been awarded the contract for the new building which is to be erected just south of the new administration building.

An appropriation amounting to $139,000 has been made for the building which will consist of 24 apartments of one, two and three rooms to be occupied by members of the staff and other employees. A requisition for such a building to relieve congested conditions in the housing of the officials of the institution has been on file for some time with the state department of public welfare and word of the awarding of the contract was grateful news to members of the staff and department heads today. The erection of the staff house will be the only major building project at the local institution this year.

Five-State Snowstorm Reported in the West

Salt Lake City, April 17.—(AP)—A five-state snowstorm centering in northern Utah closed mountain roads and delayed air travel yesterday. Blossoming fruit trees here bowed under a four-inch fall.

Chicago, April 17.—(AP)—The reason why nearly three times more potential draftees are being rejected for bad teeth now than in the World war is probably due to American mothers' stopping nursing their babies.

This explanation was proposed to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology today by Dr. C. G. King, famous vitamin expert of the University of Pittsburgh.

Teeth, he said, are the first "tissue" of the body to be affected by lack of vitamin C. This does not mean much to adults, whose teeth are already formed, but it is important to babies.

Mother's milk, he went on, contains four to five times more vitamin C than raw cow's milk. However, the babies were not given the raw milk, but pasteurized or evaporated milk.

The latter two forms of milk, at the time when the present draftees were young, were deficient in vitamin C, he said. Pasteurization at that time reduced this vitamin by 50 to 90 per cent and in evaporated milk the loss in those years was nearly total.

The youngsters of that generation, today's soldiers, consequently got off to a bad start with teeth.

Both pasteurized and evaporated milk today, he explained, no longer lose so much vitamin C and probably would not have bad tooth effects to the same degree.

London Suffers Worst Bombing: Fears Invasion

The War Today!

By DEVON FRANCIS
To the sustained pressure which the German military machine is exerting against the precarious foothold of the allies on the Hellenic peninsula has been added another of the nazis' intermittent visitations of destruction on London, seat of empire.

It is not too much to gamble that allied resistance and the hope of a stabilized front with the chance of inaugurating a counter-offensive, or complete liquidation of the Balkan campaign with victory for the axis, may be settled shortly.

Last night's air raid on London was called by Berlin the heaviest of the war, by sources in London "one of the heaviest."

The German high command characterized the foray as a vengeance raid, repayment for the intensive British raid on Berlin April 9.

A better explanation, in light of the calculation with which the Germans move, is that such an assault right now was designed to demonstrate the untapped energy of the nazis' military organization, as well as to slow the British industrial effort.

No less remarkable than the persistence, scope and speed of the German effort in the Balkans is the unflagging stubbornness of the British in the face of almost consistent setbacks.

The seeds of the first major battle of the Balkan campaign in which the British would participate appeared south of Mt. Olympus. It can easily be a decisive battle.

West of that point another panzer column seeks entrance to the plains of Thessaly in a drive toward Kalabaka. And still farther west Italian troops are striking at a third segment of the allied front.

After desperate rearguard action, the allies may be electing to stand. Even an initial success against the smashing axis columns would hold hope for eventual reinforcement of men and supplies and counter-attack. If the Germans again break through, the chances of allied success in the Hellenic campaign would be at their darkest.

London Suffers Greatly

Adolf Hitler's Luftwaffe smashed at London in the most violent assault of the war last night—an eight-hour rain of havoc and death in which 400 nazis planes dropped more than 100,000 incendiary and countless high explosive bombs on the capital of empire.

The German high command officially described the raid as a "reprisal for the English destruction of the cultural and historic center of Berlin on April 9" and declared that henceforth every British air attack on German residential areas would be retaliated in fuller measure.

The British Press Association declared it was "the most vicious and wanton attack since the fire raid of last Dec. 29," when the "City," London's Wall Street district, was all but destroyed.

An official communique said tersely that "casualties were heavy . . . considerable damage was done."

Economist Killed

Lord Stamp, noted economist, well known in the United States, and his wife were both killed.

On the Balkan war front, the Luftwaffe played another tempestuous role, cooperating with waves of nazis tanks in hammering at allied lines in northern Greece.

Hitler's high command said German troops swept across the Aliakmon river and captured the town of Servia, 70 miles from the Yugoslav frontier.

Berlin said the German army was "at grips" with the British expeditionary force south of Mt. Olympus in a clash which might develop into a major battle.

British troops in North Africa were reported to have struck back heavily at the 22is invaders in counter-attacks at Fort Capuzzo near the Egyptian-Libyan border and at Salum, just inside Egypt, they were supported in these actions by British warships lying off-shore.

Italian troops driving northward from Albania were said to have reached Yugoslav border defenses near Scutari, advancing "many kilometers" up the Adriatic coast, with Yugoslav troops retreating before them.

Italy Says Greek Front Line is Collapsing

London, April 17.—(AP)—Reuters (British News Agency) reports from Greece tonight said the British-Greek line, although under heavy pressure, remained intact.

(By The Associated Press)

Italy's high command asserted late today that the whole Greek front was collapsing, and simultaneously British and Greek forces fought a violent, perhaps decisive battle with German panzer columns lashing at the heart of the allied defense line, 90 miles inside Greece.

"The entire front is in crisis," the fascist high command declared, apparently referring only to the Greek-Italian front—not the whole allied line which extends from Mt. Olympus in eastern Greece to Chimeria, Albania.

In London, serious talk that a German invasion of the British Isles might be imminent followed in the wake of last night's 400 plane attack by the Luftwaffe on London.

The British acknowledged that German pressure was "creasing" in the now full blazing battle of Greece.

The action raged in the Kalabaka sector as nazi blitzkrieg invaders sought to storm into the lowlands of Grecian Thessaly.

Charges Recruits With Tuberculosis are Being Admitted to U. S. Army

Indianapolis, April 17—(AP)—Dr. Esmond R. Long of the University of Pennsylvania, former president of the National Tuberculosis Association, says tubercular recruits are being admitted to the army because medical examinations are not sufficiently thorough.

Dr. Long, a speaker before the Indiana Tuberculosis Association meeting said the examinations do not include chest x-rays.

"Tuberculosis has no place in the army," he said. "Nevertheless, there is always a certain amount of it. It has been established that 90 per cent of the tuberculosis in the army exists because examinations are not good enough; very little is acquired in the service."

Violators would be subject to the same punishment as motorists who violate traffic laws.

The new code also prohibits cyclists from "stealing rides" by hanging on to streetcars, trucks or other vehicles. The bill was introduced by Rep. David Hunter, Jr., (R-Rockford).

ELECTION ASSURED

Washington—(AP)—The election of Mrs. Samuel J. Campbell, Mount Carroll, Ill., as treasurer of the Daughters of the American Revolution was assured inasmuch as she had no opponent for the office.

Camp Forrest Boys Get Commendation Tullahoma Citizens

Boys are Generally Well Behaved Merchants and Police Say

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 17—(AP)—Inadequate recreational facilities at nearby Tullahoma cause much restlessness among Illinois soldiers training here, but townspeople think "it's remarkable" how well the boys behave.

Tullahoma was a village of 2,000 when Camp Forrest was planned. Since then the population has doubled. There are two bowling alleys, two movies, a skating rink, and two poolhalls available to accommodate 16,000 soldiers and the residents.

"You can imagine what it'll be like when there are 30,000 here this summer," said Pvt. Orville Colby of Danville, Ill.

When daylight begins to fade around 6 P. M., the two main streets of Tullahoma, and even the side streets, are thick with restless khaki-clad soldiers hunting something to do.

Those who can't get into the movies, bowling alleys, poolhalls or the skating rink either mill about the soda fountains of the three drug stores or parade in groups from two to 20 around town. Most of the soldiers, however, spend most of their evenings in their barracks or in their regimental post exchanges.

Praised by Merchants

"Ninety-nine per cent of the boys have been very gentlemanly in every way," declared L. E. (Doc) Taylor, owner of the drug store on Tullahoma's main corner, where many of the soldiers hang out during the idle time.

"Now and then we find one of the boys hard to deal with but most of them are courteous and considerate," Mrs. Joe Latham and J. E.

Military Police Help

Many of the soldiers in the higher pay brackets have opened accounts in Tullahoma's three banks. Stores in Tullahoma have put in merchandise catering to the needs and tastes of the soldiers.

"We've had very little trouble with the soldiers," said Chief of Police Frank Wade. "There have been a few drunks but no serious fights yet."

"We raided a taxi stand last night we thought was selling liquor and we raided a barn near town where liquor was being sold," the chief added. "The military police help us keep order whenever the soldiers are in town."

"The soldiers are very nice but they do embarrass us girls whistling at us or flirting whenever we walk down the streets in town," commented one Tullahoma belle. "Of course they don't really mean any harm. They're only out for fun. Not many of us ever get really mad about it."

Town Crowded on Sundays

Sundays find Tullahoma jammed with troops, most of them from Illinois, Colorado and Ohio units. Out of town visitors coming to camp also make traffic a problem.

Each night when 10 o'clock sounds there is a rush for the buses to ride the two miles back to camp for 10:30 taps, when a checkup on absentees is made in all barracks. Some soldiers start early enough to walk to camp.

There is little mixing between soldiers from different states since they are housed in different parts of camp.

"I haven't talked to more than two or three boys from the other states," said one Colorado trainee. "When we go anywhere we usually go with somebody from our own outfit."

"Chee, I been lookin' for a southern drawl ever since I been here de whole month," said one trainee whose dialect was that the southerners have come to identify with sections of Chicago. "De only time I hear it is when I talk to one of de clerks in Tullahoma. We don't get to see these Tennessee boys close up much."

"Some of the Illinois boys came down to our post exchange, but they're the only ones we've talked to," said one Chattanooga youth. "We told them about our state and they told us about their homes."

Manila, capital city of the Philippines, has a population of 623,492, about equal to that of Washington, D. C.

Great Salt lake in Utah is about 35 miles wide and has a maximum length of 75 miles. It is from 20 to 50 feet deep.

Of the nation's incumbent governors, 26 practiced law.

They'll Do It Every Time

Brantley, at the town's other two drugstores, echoed Taylor's comments.

"I think it's remarkable the way the boys behave," said Mrs. Latham. "Usually when boys that age are away from home they want to let loose."

"Some of them feel the girls here look down on men in uniform but all of 'em don't of course. Any nice girls wouldn't pay attention to boys they don't know."

"The officers are 100 per cent okay and only now and then do we have difficulty with any of the enlisted men," said Brantley. "They come in and buy cameras, films and soft drinks and the only thing they complain about is the price of cigarettes. A lot of them don't know that they don't have to pay the cigarette tax in the camp exchanges but do pay it outside the camp."

BAKERS ELECT OFFICERS

Danville, Ill.—(AP)—Succeeding Paul W. Zickgraf of Peoria, Walter Kurth, a wholesale baker of Minier and Bloomington, was elected president of the Associated Bakers of Illinois. Re-elected as chairman of the wholesale division was Robert D. Bills, Mattoon, while Zickgraf was chosen to head the retail division. Harvey J. Brouillette, Champaign, was elected as one of two new directors.

52 Counties Seek Refunds of Motor Fuel Tax Quotas

Springfield, Ill., April 17—(AP)—A committee representing 52 downstate counties are to confer today with State Finance Director George E. McKibbin to discuss the counties' claim for gasoline tax refunds dating back to 1933.

One of the counties, Peoria, contends the state owes its treasury $200,000 in gas tax funds because of an incorrect method of computing monthly allotments of the tax receipts collected by the state. Other counties are pressing proportionate claims, alleging that Cook county (Chicago) received about $2,000,000 more than its share during the period involved.

The committee to confer with McKibbin was created at a recent meeting of county officials in Peoria and is headed by State's Attorney Lester F. Carson of Peoria county.

Committee members said three possible courses of action were being investigated: (1) Legal action against the state in the court of claims; (2) Legal action against counties benefitting from the alleged illegal distribution; (3) Legislative action.

On Wrong Basis

Discovery of the alleged illegal distribution of tax refunds was made last June by Peter J. Naughton, Peoria Association of Commerce official. He asserted that from 1933 to 1940 motor fuel tax refunds were made on the basis of 1933 figures for motor vehicle registrations in the various counties, whereas the law requires distribution to be made on year-to-year figures.

A subsequent check-up revealed that deficiencies in refunds were made in 51 other counties where in the past seven years marked gains in population and increases in the amount of automobile and truck license fees have been made. Although the method of distribution of tax refunds was corrected by the state finance director when the Green administration took office, the 52 counties affected now seek to recover the claimed deficiencies made in the past seven years.

STUDENT FOUND DEAD

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation
and excessive dislike of another cause

Address.

● SERIAL STORY

BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Dr. Hale puts Carolyn to work immediately, dictates a scientific report of his experiment. Carolyn calls Ken Palmer, a boy in love with her, to hire guards, buy rifles, Ken brings a dozen applicants for police jobs.
There is more work. Dr. Hale admits he is disturbed by Carolyn's eyes. And she finds her scientist-employer is also human.

SECRET OF X-999

CHAPTER III

THE office clock showed 9:02, but Dr. Hale was unaware of the thing existed. He was still dictating, walking slowly beside the windows where he could glance out at the night.

More often, though, he glanced at Carolyn Tyler; somehow her presence here was exalting. A subtle, delicate presence. A fragrance.

He had never quite observed this phenomenon while with Leana Sormi, his feminine associate in the laboratory. Patently Miss Tyler was somehow set apart among the feminine gender as a superior—

His thoughts snapped back again to the business at hand. He resumed dictating.

"—wherefore it seemed advisable to interrupt the actual laboratory work and make this detailed report, lest some quirk of fate eliminate both Miss Sormi and me from this earth tonight.
We are the only two human beings who hold this priceless secret. Moreover, the public itself is entitled to know what has been accomplished. As to what may be expected from this isotope, which

I have tentatively designated X-999, I will venture this much:

"One—sort of tabulate it, please.
Miss Tyler— One: A five-pound lump of X-999, in only 10 to 50 per cent purity, would drive all of America's ocean liners and naval vessels for months without refueling, if the power were properly harnessed. One pound of the substance is equivalent to 5,000-000 pounds of coal or 3,000,000 pounds of gasoline. Two, in ex-uh—explosive power it—"

"Did you say explosive?" Carolyn asked.

"Yes. In explosive power, a single pound of X-999 equals approximately 15,000 tons of trini-trotoluene, and—"

"Tons? Dr. Hale? One pound to 15,000 tons?"

"Yes, Miss Tyler! Its unbelievable but true! One pound to 15,000 tons of TNT! I know it staggeres a person to think of it, but—well, the language has no adequate words for this! History has no precedents. With X-999 available, the human race must revise its entire concept of energy and power, as applied to daily living. That is why I don't dare take chances on letting this precious secret be lost now that Leana and I have chanced to—but I must not digress. Put down that the quantity production of X-999
in this laboratory has made possible the—"

HE slipped back from his sudden intense conversation with Carolyn into his dictation drone, choosing words with meticulous care lest he say neither too much nor too little.

It was past 10 o'clock before he paused again. This time he was at the window, and stopped talking for a long moment just to gaze out at the blackness punc-tured by distant city lights. It was a natural stopping place in his narrative, Carolyn noted.
She sat back wearily in her

said the wise ones, means an expeditionary force.
But not necessarily. When you realize that the United States is now building or maintaining military posts and bases in Alaska, Hawaii, Panama, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Cuba, Newfoundland, Greenland, and a dozen other far-flung scattered places far from the mainland, it becomes clear that a considerable ferry service is going to be needed all the time to keep these places supplied and to make continual changes, reinforcements, and shifts of troops. You don't have to think in terms of war at all to see that an establishment of this size and dispersion needs quite a fleet at all times, and that Uncle Sam has become a ferryboatman on a gigantic scale.

When Somebody Gives—That's News!

Not "What can I get?" but "What can I do?"
Everybody knows that we need more of that spirit. Not so many actually do anything about it.
In Lincoln, Ill., 500 members of the Logan County Building and Construction Trades Council are doing something about it. A proposal had been made by the Lincoln Evening Courier that ornamental approaches be built at the points where state highways entered Lincoln. Leaders of the carpenters', teamsters', painters', plumbers', and common laborers' unions became interested. Their members volunteered to do the work without cost to the state, which co-operated by lending planners and machinery.

So on May 10 Lincoln unveils the first of a series of the city gateways, made possible because it has men who are proud enough of their town to be willing voluntarily to do something about it, because it has men who were willing to ask not
"What can I get?" but "What can I do?"

We often wonder if plumbers sleep under the sink in their own homes.

"How will men look in 1975?" asks a woman writer. Probably just as often as they do now.

It would be much easier to be rich if it didn't take so doggone much money.

LOVE POWER

He liked dancing with this strange girl, who could make him forget work and worry. Being with Carolyn, Dr.
Hale realized, was good for him.

chair, and tossed her pencil onto her desk.

"I wouldn't want to be inquisitive," she began, laconically.—Dr.
Robert Hale was so young looking—"But I'm sort of curious to know how scientists get along without eating. My own lunch was 10 hours ago." She flushed with a little smile.

He turned to her, astonishment palely showing.

"For gosh sakes, Miss Tyler! I—of course! Of course! I am so sorry.
Please forgive me. And please let me take you to dinner at once!
Over under four blocks is quite a good drive-in. I often eat there.
My car is—"

"You aren't through the dictating," she countered.

"I may work all night. Couldn't possibly sleep this night in any event. Come on, we shall go eat."

The employer-employee attitude was by unspoken agreement, left behind, partly because Carolyn was so naturally at ease and self-sufficient toward him. She was not the giddy, scared person she had been when she started in stenographic work three years ago.
She had already risen to a true secretarial job in the bank, and she had jumped at this oddly intriguing position at the scientific laboratory because it had held even better promise. In short, she was a business woman with poise
and I have chanced to—but I must not digress. Put down that
the quantity production of X-999
in this laboratory has made possible the—

SHE was so good at it that within a quarter hour she had Bob Hale himself relaxing. She saw that he was really a man who had driven himself unmercifully. She coaxed him to listen to music in the restaurant, and discuss the manner in which a dish of sea food was prepared. Once he slipped.

"Next move is to get this stuff far away," he declared, unexpectedly. "I must think of some place where nobody lives."
"What stuff?" she asked. "The baked salmon?"

"The X-999! Tomorrow we'll arrange for a truck to—"

"Hush!" she ordered, smiling.
"Time now to rest a bit. Do you dance?"

"Why—uh—why, yes, I used to. I can't say that—"

"Come on!"

Somewhat astounded at himself, he danced with her twice before their hour here was done.
Moreover, he liked it.

"You are a remarkable girl," he said, a bit later.

"Thank you!" She dimpled at him then. "But let's be going.
If I must work all night, I must."
Outside in his car the talk slipped back toward business, and stayed there when they walked again down the office hall.

"I suppose it will have tremendous economic importance," Carolyn was saying there in the corridor. "Somebody will get rich.
Me, I don't even try to save money any more. A little poem expresses it thus:

"There was a man who saved
up for the future.
He put in his money bags all he could spare.

But, alas, for the poor economical moocher—
The future arrived, and the man wasn't there!"

Dr. Hale laughed heartily. The funny little rhyme did him good,
and he realized that just being with pretty Carolyn Tyler did him a world of good, too.

His racing thoughts, however,
were suddenly interrupted. Leana Sormi popped open his office door and came out, glaring.

"What in the world happened?"
she demanded.

"Nothing, Leana. I've just been eating and dancing. And I—"

She was plainly shocked.

"Dancing, Robert?" said she, incredulous. "And laughter, on this night of all nights? Have you gone insane?"

Then the blond woman, impressive in her anger and handsome in note of it, turned to Carolyn with restrained fury.

13 coordinators who will receive $1 a year. The idea is to cut every possible defense contract down by sub-contracts to a point where every critical machine in the country is working 24 hours a day.

It sounds good, yet a number of officials in the defense commission and most of the war department are against it, or out mildly interested. That is, they are against forcing defense contractors to make subcontracts and believe that unless force is used there will be little sub-contracting.
They contend convincingly that forced sub-contracting would break every contract they have,
relieving the defense manufacturer of personal responsibility for fulfillment of orders on time. In their view it would promote delay rather than speed.

The new dealers are going to stick to their argument against further increases in steel prices despite wage increases—until public interest dies down at least.
They figure this way:

Net earnings of the steel industry last year amounted to $281-000,000. The 10c an hour increase, applied to the 603,000 employees of the industry on a 40 hour week basis would cost $125,424,000 a year—not counting overtime. This means roughly the earnings of the steel industry would be cut in half by the wage increases.

The new dealers have an idea
the earnings cut will be even less because of expanded operations since the middle of last year. By taking the last half 1940 earnings, they boost their earnings estimates for this year up to $360-000,000. On that basis they conclude the wage increase will cut earnings only $46,000,000—roughly one seventh.

But what the new dealers are overlooking entirely is the tax increase shortly to be enacted by Congress. Some new deal senators have said publicly this tax increase should be 100 per cent, in which case steel coal and all the other industries in which wage increases recently have been negotiated will find themselves again in the red (steel was in it five of the last ten years).

One manufacturer caught in this vice of increasing wages against an immovable price ceiling has been complaining the only alternative offered him by the government's course is whether to turn his business over to Hitler or Henderson. Another is insisting Roosevelt has amended his promise that no one would make a profit out of defense to read: "No one except labor unions shall profit from defense." Even workers will pay a portion of their increased earnings to the government in increased taxes, but the unions pay no taxes. When defense money reaches them, it sticks.

A dangerous threat to capitalism would be presented by this wage-price squeeze play if the new dealers were permanently serious.
But it has always been considered good temporary politics for statesmen to favor wage increases and oppose price increases just as they favor government expenditures and oppose taxes. The taxes usually come along later, when public attention has been diverted from the cause.

In my opinion an increase in the prices of steel, coal and other wage-increase commodities will be coming before long.

Welfare Workers'
Efforts Praised
by F. D. R. in Note

Washington, April 17—(AP)— President Roosevelt sent word today to welfare workers assisting the defense program that "in times of emergency like the present, complacency is a luxury which we must cast aside."

Roosevelt's message was read by Paul V. McNutt, defense coordinator of health and welfare, to the United Service Organizations, a group of agencies which will operate recreation facilities for men in the army and navy.

The President termed their work "A great enterprise."
"I cannot emphasize too strongly my conviction that this work which you have come here to initiate is of the utmost importance," he said. "If national defense is to be an all-out effort, the preservation
—yes, and the strengthening—of spiritual and social values is imperative."

The United Service Organizations is composed of the Y. M. C.
A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic Community Service, the Jewish Welfare Board, the Salvation Army and the National Travelers Aid Society.

It plans to operate service-club facilities in 339 communities near army and navy establishments.

McNutt said that "under an agreement worked out by the United Service Organizations and my office, quarters for these clubs will be secured by the federal government, the funds to come from the $150,000,000 anticipated under the community facilities bill."

The President sent his message to the meeting in the form of a letter to McNutt.

Dairy Products on "Must" List, Farm Leaders Informed

Production of Pork by U. S. Must Also Be Greatly Increased

Chicago, April 17—(AP)—Heavy increases in the production of pork and dairy products are imperative to meet domestic and foreign requirements, farm leaders were told yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and his assistants.

"In addition to raising our output of these products to supply the larger domestic demand resulting from industrial expansion, practically all British food requirements must be filled by the United States," Secretary Wickard said.

He addressed representatives of extension services and AAA committees from 10 corn belt states who gathered to hear details of the government's plan to maintain minimum prices of $9 for hogs, 31 cents for butter, 15 cents for chickens, and 22 cents for eggs.

The price supporting program Wickard said, was charted with the needs of Great Britain and her allies in mind.

"Britain and the other democracies," he said, "want some things made available to them under the lend-lease bill that we do not normally export. Because of the time element involved, Britain cannot secure these supplies anywhere else."

More Eggs Needed

R. D. Termohlen of the Surplus Marketing Administration estimated egg needs for the period April 1, 1941 to July 1, 1942 at 5,280 million dozen. Production last year was 3,421 million dozen.

O. M. Reed, dairy chief of the SMA, said that present prospects indicate an increase of two or three per cent in milk production in the 15 months ending July 1942, compared with the previous 15 months, but that an additional six or eight per cent increase was imperative.

Porter Henry, chief of the fruit and vegetable division, said that production of tomatoes and dried beans for canners also must be stepped up.

Hogs Must Be Heavier

The farm leaders were told that the 1942 spring pig crop must be larger than this year's and that hogs marketed next fall should be at least 10 pounds heavier than the average market weight.

Secretary Wickard said that much of the food sent to Britain would be in concentrated form because of the shortage of shipping space and transportation problems raised by the blockade and air bombardment of British ports.

Hence, he said, plans were being laid for heavy purchases of such items as dried and evaporated milk, cheese, butter, dried and frozen eggs, cured and canned pork, lard, dried beans, canned tomatoes, canned corn, and canned beans.

States represented at the meeting were Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and South Dakota.

Steel Producers Commence to Feel Shortage of Coal

Washington, April 17—(AP)—Army ordnance offices at Chicago, Pittsburgh and Cleveland reported to the war department today that curtailment of steel production in those areas had already begun as a result of the work stoppage in soft-coal mines.

The ordnance reports were in response to requests sent from Washington this week for hasty surveys in the four major steel areas, representing about 80 per cent of the country's steel production.

Of the four areas surveyed, only the Birmingham district reported a large supply on hand. There the Terminal Coal, Iron, & Railroad Company estimated its supply as sufficient for about 60 days.

Summaries from the other districts:

Chicago area—Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company, the major United States Steel subsidiary, has shut down two furnaces and expects closure of two to four additional furnaces next week. No curtailment as yet was reported by Inland Steel or Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company.

From Other Areas

Cleveland area—Republic Steel has curtailed pig-iron production by about 12 per cent. Youngstown Sheet & Tube at Youngstown reports about one week's supply of coal, after which curtailment will be necessary.

The Cleveland plants of United States Steel Corporation have reduced their pig-iron capacity by about 50 per cent or 750 tons a day. Company officials said that stockpile coal, swollen by moisture, yields about 12 per cent less coke than new coal.

The Carnegie-Illinois plant in this area reports curtailment but does not state the extent.

Pittsburgh area—Three furnaces of Carnegie-Illinois are shut down because of insufficient coke. These are the Edgar Thompson plant, the Carey furnace, and the Mingo Junction furnace.

FOUR CHICAGO MUSICIANS ENTERTAIN AT GUEST DAY MUSICAL OF PHIDIAN CLUB

Phidian Art club members and invited guests were applauding four skilled musicians yesterday afternoon when they assembled in the Loveland Community House auditorium for their annual Guest Day musicale. Gretel and Paul Dunsing, Norma Williams and Janet Hart, accomplished Chicagoans, were the guest artists, and their varied program was enjoyed by about 175 guests.

The folk songs and dances presented by the quartet afforded a colorful glimpse into the Old World, made even more effective by Mr. Dunsing's simple request that the audience forget the stage upon which the performers were appearing and "in your mind wander back to 1610 with us in our music and dances."

Mr. Dunsing's artistic achievements as a dancer, pageant leader, instructor and folk-artist are known far beyond the limits of Chicago. Both Mr. Dunsing and his wife and able assistant, Gretel, have studied recently in Europe.

The afternoon's program included English and German folk songs by the foursome; one of Stephen Foster's songs, "The Merry, Merry Month of May," sung by Miss Williams; folk dances of Denmark, Sweden, and France by the Dunsings, charmingly costumed in native dress; whistling selections by Miss Williams, who played her own accompaniments; and ensemble numbers on two soprano, an alto and a bass recorder, a wooden flute of the 16th and 17th centuries whose popularity is again sweeping the musical world.

A gracefully-executed minuet by the Dunsings brought the program to a close.

Words of praise were heard on every hand for the efforts of Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen and Mrs. A. F. Moore in arranging for the gifted musicians' visit to Dixon.

Tea tables were arranged in the ladies' lounge, which was beautifully decorated with roses, snapdragons, and other spring flowers. Miss Anna Geisenheimer, Mrs.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Approximately 300 children will appear in the second annual Music Festival for pupils of the rural schools of Lee county, to be presented in the Dixon high school auditorium at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, April 25. The event is being continued this year because of the enthusiastic response given last year's concert. No admission charge will be made, and the public is invited.

South Central Has Open House

An admirable exhibit of class room projects, an entertaining program, and a common interest in the school made a delightful occasion of last evening's open house at the South Central grade school. Every room was thronged during the evening, as interested parents and friends made a tour of the building, which was ablaze with light.

Blackboard decorations, drawn by the students, together with artistic arrangement of spring flowers transformed the rooms for the event. F. W. Lynch, principal of the school, presided during the program, "Blossom Time," presented at 7:30 o'clock, in demonstration of the various projects.

Mrs. Byron Countryman, president of the P.-T. A., the faculty and special teachers assisted with plans for the successful affair.

TRAVEL CLUB ELECTS STAFF

Members of the Dixon Travel club elected officers Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Marjorie Chandler. The new staff includes:

President, Mrs. Charles Johnston; secretary, Miss Nina Walrad; treasurer, Miss Julia Whiteley; hostess chairman, Mrs. Valoris Burgard.

Moving pictures in technicolor were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trester of Sterling. The scenes were a celluloid record of the couple's vacation trip from Sterling to Florida, including Smoky Mountain National park, Tara, the setting for the movie, "Gone with the Wind," Marine-land, and views of Metro-Goldwyn Meyers' movie "Sea Scapes," and under water pictures of "Tarzan" movies; Daytona Beach; the landing of a 50-pound blue fish and barracuda; the Bok Singing Tower, and Loo-Out mountain.

The next program is to be preceded by a 6:30 o'clock tea room dinner.

Edward Lindsay Claims Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lindsay and Miss Alice Gesin of Oregon were in Chicago on Saturday, attending the wedding of the Lindsays' son, Edward, and Miss Ruby McClain, daughter of the Wallace McClains of Chicago. The Rev. William Slade, pastor of the South Congregational church of Chicago, read the single ring ceremony at 5:30 o'clock.

The bride was dressed in white satin, with a finger-tip veil, and carried white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Hazel Elliott, as matron of honor; and the Misses Jane Rice and Imogene Walters, bridesmaids. The attendants wore net frocks in pastel colors, and carried pink roses.

John McClain, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Robert Cook and Robert McClain. A reception was held in the evening at the Green Gables Hotel on Lake avenue.

Mrs. Lindsay was educated in the Chicago schools. The bridegroom, a graduate of Oregon high school, attended night school in Chicago for a year, and is employed by the Bluebird Bus company of Chicago.

The couple will make their home at 4009 Lake Park avenue, Chicago.

Virginia Murray Wins Recognition

Miss Virginia M. Murray who is with the Travelers Aid society in New York City, has received an invitation from Paul V. McNutt, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Knox, with approval of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, to attend a conference of community leaders, which was to have been held this morning at the Hotel Willard in Washington.

Discussion was to center about methods of providing the country's armed forces with the best influences of their former homes and communities. "Many towns adjacent to our camps," the invitation read, "lack resources to meet this need which is a national problem."

"Plan of action will be presented by six member agencies of the united service organizations for national defense. Cooperation of best community leadership throughout the nation is required."

Miss Murray, who is well known in Dixon, is a sister of Dr. W. G. Murray. She is serving as chairman of the special committee on programs and speakers for the Travelers' Aid conference to be held at Atlantic City, June 1.

ANNUAL BANQUET

The ninth annual community Mother-Daughter banquet of Franklin Grove has been announced for 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Kersten gymnasium. Mrs. Charles Schmucker is general chairman for the event, which attracts guests from Dixon, Nachusa, and other neighboring vicinities, as well as Franklin Grove.

Mrs. Lucille Kinsley has arranged the evening's program. Mrs. Schmucker's committee includes Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Harvey Brucker, Mrs. Leland Blocker, and Miss Betty Bettendorf.

Fiesta colors will be a gay note on the tables.

North Central P.-T. A. Meets

Miss Marian Lawson, music instructor, addressed about 70 members and guests at Tuesday's meeting of the North Central Parent-Teacher association Tuesday afternoon. "My aim in teaching music to your schools," she stated, "is to instill into the lives of the children a love and understanding of the best in music."

"In order to receive the greatest amount of enjoyment from listening to music, one must understand it," Miss Lawson continued. "Before this can be accomplished, some of the rudiments of music must be learned." Recordings, she explained, are used in music appreciation classes.

The rhythm band, composed of first and second-graders, was presented in a group of numbers, including "Ace of Diamonds," "Shoemaker's Dance," "Valse Blue" with bell accompaniment by Benjie Roe, piano accompaniments by Mrs. Frank Kennedy, and George Tyler, directing. Miss Ruth Chiverton assists in training this group, aided by Miss Jane Frank.

Lois Selgestad, an eighth grader, reviewed the life of Sibelius, Finnish composer of the national anthem, "Finlandia," and a recording of the number was played, before the eighth grade sang it, and second number, "All Through the Night," in which a pleasing blending of tones demonstrated true appreciation of the selection. Miss Lawson directed the singers, and Miss Geraldine Lewis was at the piano.

Orville Westgate was in charge.

IN ARIZONA

Mrs. Laura Dart of Chicago is now at her new ranch home in Arizona, which is located on the 40,000-acre tract owned by her son, Justin Dart.

RETURN TO DIXON

Mrs. James N. Sterling and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Sterling Hawkins arrived today from California to reside in Dixon, their former home. For several years, Mrs. Sterling and her daughter have lived in New York, Paris, and California.

Cason national forest in New Mexico has 1,128,000 acres.

Troubadettes Sing at Polo

A talented organization of women singers, the Troubadettes, presented a concert last evening at the Methodist church in Polo for a Guest Night meeting of the Church club. Women of the club entertained their husbands at dinner, preceding the concert, which was presented in the auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The entire chorus was notably crisp in its attacks, and no set of voices submerged any other set. Diction was good, and the voice-blending was better than good.

Miss Reed, church organist, concluded the evening's program, which was presented under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, with Mrs. Lyle Prescott at the piano. Mrs. Goodsell was presented with an arm bouquet from two former pupils, Mrs. Lois Lord Cruikshank and Mrs. Carrie Wales.

The Troubadettes will next be heard in a 4 o'clock vespers concert at the Methodist church in Oregon on Sunday afternoon, April 27.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Alida Messer has returned to Dixon, after spending several months in the east and south. She left last November to visit her son and daughter-in-law, the Clifford Messers, before going to Washington, D. C., for a holiday visit with another son, Dana, and since January, has been in Mississippi.

Weekly Food and Marketing Letter by Mrs. Emily M. Lautz for Dixon Telegraph Readers

Lent is over, but the season again has focused attention on the valuable contribution of fish in nourishment, appetite appeal, menu variety and economy.

Although fish is good news 12 months of the year, there is a fresh news story on one streamlined seafood product that is making headlines this month, because it has patriotic as well as appetite appeal. What's it all about?

It is that new Pacific delicacy, Dungeness crabmeat.

America, long easy-going with regard to foreign crabmeat, now is making up to the fact that she owns the world's finest crabmeat, something not duplicated elsewhere. It is all-American in every respect—the waters in which it is caught, the fishermen, the crab pots; yes, even the bait, the cooking and canning, which is the largest on the Pacific coast.

Dungeness is a big orange-red streamlined show crab, now termed the "blue stocking" of the icy waters of Dungeness Bay, situated in Puget Sound. He is more than a foot wide, with his straddling Tony Galento legs, a stout fellow yet so tender and with meat so white that he has been dubbed the "Sea Chicken". Fresh caught, fresh-cooked Dungeness crabmeat and legs long has been a gastronomic feature of the Cliff House, the Brown Derby and the Hollywood in California. Now modern refrigeration and rapid transportation have stepped in to make this all-American product available from coast to coast.

Tokeland, on Puget Sound, for ten years has been the home of the Nelson Crab and Oyster Company, its fishing boats now a strong fleet which collects crabs from pots under practically all weather conditions to assure deliveries. Hardened crews face gigantic storms and mountainous seas in pursuit of the toothsome Dungeness. He is brought alive in sea water to the port and immediately shelled and cooked in gleaming pans in spic and span kitchens operated by the highly trained staff of expert shellers and dieticians. Nature, as she operates in Dungeness Bay, seems to send the Dungeness Crab to the cookery and cannery at the precise period of his fillet and skillet prime. Tender and flavorful, he is without a vestige of shell and fiber. Before this American product could be distributed in the East, it was necessary to devise an extensive plan of continuous refrigeration to transport the fresh cooked crabmeat to the doors of restaurants, clubs and vacuum packed in iced, enamel-lined containers for home consumption.

Yes, it has taken all these years of indiscriminate crabmeat importations to make Americans wake up to the fact that the only one we can label as "Extra Fancy" is our own! There is a foreign crab of similar species, one coarser and less diplomatic in its intrusion of taste. There also is our common Pacific Crab, and our Pacific King Crab, which grows to 14 and 15 pounds and so is less tender and refined. Mr. Dungeness reaches only a medium size when he succumbs to the bait in the trap pot and at the cookery he yields an average of one-half pound of delicious unbleached white meat. Taken in 2 to 5 fathoms, Dungeness catches are limited by law to males. Shells average 7 to 8 inches for back only and make an impressive sight when whole crab is served at seafood bars.

Federal officials, dieticians, restaurants and newspapers are uniting in spreading the story about the all-American crabmeat. Every eight hours, 75,000 persons have viewed the spectacular Dungeness Crab window on Fifth Avenue, New York City, one block from the world's busiest corner. The contribution of the University of Washington has been a critical analysis, which shows this particular species not only to hold a fine balance of mineral and vitamin virtues, but also to be sterile from the bacteriological standpoint, something not reported on similar species from other locations.

All such crabmeat is rich in iodine, this content ranging from 102 to 740 parts per million. Occasional blue spotting of the muscle ends and joints is due to harmless copper compounds from the blood, the report states. The analysis shows these calories per pound:

Dungeness Leg Meat, 351; body meat, 394; average, 365 calories per pound. Other statistics are moisture, leg meat, 81.58; body meat, 80.92; protein, leg meat, 14.29; body meat, 16.19.

Crabmeat fits into many types of salad, with celery, greens, tomatoes, and piquant dressings; fresh crab legs are French fried, or may be served with stuffed avocado pear salad or stuffed eggs. Crabmeat cocktail, with chili horseradish sauce is a favorite, and creamed crab meat au gratin always finds an audience.

Swedish Cabbage Soup

Travelers on the S. S. Kungsholm cruises bring back stories of this wholesome spicy soup, which is served under the impressive name of "Kalsoppa Med Fricadeller." This recipe from the chef, exactly as prepared on shipboard, yields 15 to 20 portions, however the quantities can be adjusted easily to the small family. Or prepare the full amount, storing part in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

This soup also was popular at the Swedish restaurant of the New York World's Fair last summer:
1 large head white cabbage
3 tablespoons shortening
1-2 teaspoon pepper
1 medium onion, chopped
3 tablespoons golden syrup
4 quarts rich meat stock
1 carrot, diced
Herbs (Thyme, marjoram); all-spice

Cut the cabbage in very small strips. Brown in the shortening, add to the meat stock and boil slowly together 2 hours. Strain a little of the stock into a small saucepan with onion, carrot and spices and boil 15 minutes. Return to soup and add syrup. Serve very hot.

Notes: Meat stock for cabbage soup is best made from veal and pork bones. For a smaller quantity, use 2 quarts stock with one small firm head of cabbage. If desired, the onion may be browned in shortening with the cabbage. In preparing a large quantity of the soup, the chef's recipes calls for 10 whole allspice (black pepper), and "1 twig" each thyme and marjoram.

Homemakers who are experimenting with new herb assortments will find that cabbage soup is an ideal dish in which to try "a pinch of this and that."

Maple Sugar Cookies
1 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup maple sugar, crushed
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons water
4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream the shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Part butter may be used. Stir in crushed maple sugar. Beat the eggs and combine with water. Sift baking powder with the flour. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with beaten eggs and mix well.

This soft dough may be chilled and rolled for cut cookies. Or spread dough in a square pan, rubbed with shortening and flour mix, and mark as it comes from the oven. Bake 15 minutes in moderate oven 350 degrees F. Cookies may be decorated with nuts or sprinkled lightly with sugar.

Grapefruit Juice Sherbet

3-4 cup sugar
5 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind 1 lemon
1-1-4 cups grapefruit juice (canned)
1-8 teaspoon-salt
1-1-2 cups milk
Combine sugar, lemon juice and rind, canned grapefruit juice and salt. Stir until sugar is dissolved.

THE MORE WE SELL

THE MORE YOU SAVE!

This statement . . . "the more we sell the more you save" . . . is important for you to understand. It is particularly important because it has to do with foods . . . the largest single item in your cost of living.

One of the important things that affect storekeeping costs is the amount of business a store does. For example, with rent, light, heat and various other expenses remaining about the same no matter whether a store sells six thousand or ten thousand dollars in foods a week, it is easy to see that the more a store sells the less it takes from each dollar spent in it to pay for these expenses. The greater the sales the smaller the profit required on each transaction.

For years, A&P has recognized that large sales were important to its stores . . . in order to keep expenses down and thus give customers more for their money. And we have learned that when we keep our prices low more people shop with us. It is our customers, more than ourselves, who have made our business grow. Thus over the years, A&P Stores have become larger . . . and year after year have sold many, many more kinds of foods.

Today, A&P has what it believes to be the least expensive kind of food store to operate . . . the A&P Super Market. This modern store is truly a "food department store" offering you groceries, meats, fruits and vegetables, baked goods and dairy products under one big roof. More than two thousand items are sold in it . . . and its average weekly business is from five to fifteen times that of the average A&P Store of a few years ago. Thus each dollar's worth of food an A&P Super Market sells takes a much smaller part of the "business expense" than each dollar did in the former A&P Stores.

Prices throughout A&P Super Markets are low . . . and they are kept low every day of the week. Thus if you shop for all of your weekly food needs at an A&P Super Market you will save on your entire grocery bill. Remember: it's the average cost of all the food you buy—and not a "special" or two—that keeps your food bills down.

These new type food stores . . . your A&P Super Markets . . . are A&P's latest and greatest triumph in its war against unnecessary expense in the marketing of foods . . . to the end that A&P can provide more and better foods for more people for less money.

Try shopping at an A&P Super Market this week. You'll agree with thousands who say "you save money . . . it's fun to go A&P Super Marketing!"

With Co. A at Camp Forrest

By JAMES W. KLINE
Private First Class

History was made this week in Co. "A". Along with our scheduled routine of work and drill, we were paid, had a banquet for a former commander and changed commanders.

On April 13, Lt. Murray Frazier of Kankakee took command of Company A, replacing Lt. Wayne Wolfe of Dixon who is going to Fort Benning, Georgia for a 90-day course in weapons, technicalities and supplies.

On Friday, April 11, our evening mess took on the air of a Palmer House banquet when the former officers of Co. A sat down to a table in our mess hall. The affair served a triple purpose. It was a farewell send-off to Lt. Wolfe on his new assignment, a formal introduction of the enlisted men to our new commanding officer, Lt. Frazier, and the real reason for the whole thing—the presentation of a wrist watch to Capt. Gus Wimpelberg.

Lt. Wolfe introduced Lt. James Ketchin, Lt. Roy Rodesch, Lt. Bob Meppin and Lt. Orin Peterson. The other former officers of Co. A who were absent were Col. Sherwood Dixon who is at Fort Benning and Lt. Malcolm Brown who was officer of the guard that night. After introducing the officers, Lt. Wolfe said: "Co. A is the best unit in the regiment and we have made a fine showing in spite of bad conditions. We all have a job to do. Every soldier has an honest gripe coming. Let's make it a good one, but take the necessary hard knocks on the chin and forget it!"

Corp. Paul Girndt, our company clerk, presented the wrist watch to Capt. Wimpelberg. Gus was brief and to the point. He said: "This certainly makes the tie that binds more substantial. Co. A will always be my home port. Get all you can out of your training, because some day you may need it."

On Tuesday, April 8th we had our first army pay day. Twenty-six hundred dollars was distributed among ninety-seven men. Time passes quickly when things are popping as they did this week. Probably the busiest man in camp was Sgt. Albert Bieschke. Aside from his usual work as supply sergeant he had to inventory and transfer every article of property of the company from Lt. Wolfe to Lt. Frazier. Quite a job but Lt. Albee came through.

We now have four new m-1 rifles and a 60mm trench mortar in addition to the weapons we had when we left Dixon. Since our arrival in Camp Forrest we have been issued overalls, wool trousers, steel cots, mattresses, sheets and pillow cases, pillows and a comforter. The non-commissioned officers now have new action back blouses.

Incidentally some of our non-comes advanced in rank this week. The Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, was accused of evading $112,000 in taxes during 1935-36-37, while his defense was he had over-paid by $165,000.

Judge Grover Moscovitz set April 24 as the date for sentencing and filing of any defense motions.

Seven-Week Trial
This ended the seven-week trial during which the Hollywood magnate heard himself described as:

"A great builder of a great industry—a man loved by everyone—fair to his friends and fair to the government". by Defense Counsel Harold Corbin.

"Liar-cheat-fraud", by U. S. Attorney Matthias Correa.

Will Hays, head of the movie industry, Charles Chaplin and other film personages testified the reputations of Schenck and Moskovitz were above reproach. The prosecution produced records showing that Schenck had claimed in his tax returns huge gambling losses; that he neglected to report winnings and that he deducted as "business expenses" free-handed expenditures on women and pleasure parties in Hollywood, New York and Europe.

TOILS FOR SOIL
West Monroe, La.—Ed Head, Brooklyn Dodger rookie pitcher, gets an acre of his father's farm here every time he huris a shutout. He now owns 10 acres.

Loading of railway revenue freight for the week ended March 15 totaled 758,653 cars an increase of 22.5 percent over the same week in 1940.

Film Magnate and Aide Convicted of Income Tax Frauds

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Multi-millionaire Joseph M. Schenck was convicted early today of income tax evasion in 1935 and 1936 and faces possible imprisonment for 10 years and fines of $20,000.

A federal court jury deliberated 10 hours to find the movie magnate guilty on two of four counts, but acquitted him of tax evasion charges for 1937 and of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Co-defendant Joseph Moskovitz, Schenck's eastern representative, was convicted on the 1936 tax charge and acquitted on the other three counts.

Schenck, board chairman of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, was accused of evading $112,000 in taxes during 1935-36-37, while his defense was he had over-paid by $165,000.

Judge Grover Moscovitz set April 24 as the date for sentencing and filing of any defense motions.

Around Illinois

Liked Own Bed Better—
Centra—(AP)—A nurse at St. Mary's hospital was alarmed. One of her patients was missing. The hospital was searched from cellar to attic, but he couldn't be found. The only clue available was that he was wearing striped pajamas.

As a last resort, some one checked the patient's home. There he was, in striped pajamas, sound asleep in his own bed.

Was Discreet Anyway—
Peoria — (AP)—Two youths were fighting in the street with one getting decidedly the worst of it. Drawing back and blinking in surprise at his antagonist, the beaten one struck a dramatic pose. "It's a good thing for you I'm 'yellow'," he shouted—and fled.

Newfangled Spelling—
Fort Sheridan—(AP)—The officer in charge of the spelling class has a problem. One of the selectees assigned to him spelled school as "scollie", railroad as "rarode" and coast artillery as "cost ertillery".

Maybe the Light Was Bad—Rock Island—(AP)—L. C. Jameson, Boy Scout executive, tried to start a fire at the Scout camp after the camp had been idle all winter. A Scout, you know, must be able to start a fire with two matches.

Jameson laid a fire, using what he thought was paper as tinder. Kinding was placed on top and heavier wood added. He struck a match. Nothing happened. Again he tried, and again nothing happened. A half-box of matches went the same way.

Finally taking the fuel from the stove, he discovered that the "paper" was sheet asbestos.

Here's An Idea, Girls—
DeKalb—(AP)—Betty Bergh, 19, a freshman at Northern State Teachers College, had a "boy friend" in the army at Fort Custer. Mich. The "boy friend", Private Morton Knight, said some of his pals were pretty lonesome.

Betty persuaded four classmates to write one letter each to a soldier. None was addressed. Betty sent them to Knight and he distributed them to four of his buddies. The morale-boosting stunt worked and now four soldiers, three Illinoisans, are writing to the coeds. The soldiers all "buck privates" are: Harold Benjamin, Rockford; Robert Mayer, Chicago; and Joseph Edmond, Oak Park, and Verne Driscoll, Jackson, Mich.

Population of American Samoa increased from 10,055 in 1930 to 12,908 in 1940.

British Lord and Lady Killed Last Night in Bombing

BULLETIN

London, April 17—(AP)—Lord Stamp, perhaps the most brilliant economist in the empire, was killed last night with Lady Stamp and his heir, the Honorable Wilfrid Carlyle Stamp, when high explosive bombs made several direct hits on their home on the outskirts of London.

In all, six persons died in the wreckage of the house. (Lord Stamp lived at Shortlands, Kent).

The house collapsed atop a shelter where at least seven members of the household had taken refuge. A maid was removed alive. Of the dead, only the body of Lord Stamp had been recovered tonight.

Relief workers said there was no chance that Lady Stamp, her oldest son or three other maids had escaped death.

London, April 17—(AP)—Death of Lord and Lady Stamp in last night's German air raids on London was announced today.

Lord Stamp was the government's economic adviser as head of a committee coordinating the work of several ministries.

Economist, statistician, author, lecturer, director of the Bank of England, chairman of railways and many industrial boards, Lord Stamp, Lord of Shortlands, was the busiest man in Great Britain.

He was credited with never having refused a job or a position and was equally at home in the directors' room of banks and in the lecture hall before learned societies, presiding as president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science or occupying the chair at religious assemblies. Stenographers said his speeches were delivered at a rate of nearly 300 words a minute.

Strongly built, with square shoulders and a jutting jaw, a non-smoker and teetotaler, he inspired confidence among business men and government officials. His views were sought, quoted and followed on both sides of the Atlantic and in the Antipodes. He made frequent trips to the United States, Canada and Australia.

Lady Stamp once gave a key to his career when she told a girls' club in London:

"All the first years of our married life every evening was spent at home, while my husband pored over his books. He even interrupted a student at London University after our first baby was born."

He was 40 before his efforts began to bear real fruit. Then he jumped from the civil service to industry, was knighted four times in 1919, while he was at sea en route to the United States, was raised to the peerage, becoming Lord Stamp of Shortlands.

Long Years in Government
He was born June 21, 1880, in Bexley, a town in Kent, England. At 16, as Josiah Charles Stamp, he won a clerkship in the department of inland revenue and, except for the years 1898-1900, when he was in the marine department of the Board of Trade, he worked on taxes until March 1919, a stretch of 23 years. The last five years of his government service, embracing the World war period, he was assistant secretary of the revenue bureau.

His entry into the business world was as secretary and director of Nobel Industries, Ltd., 1919-1926. Then he went to Imperial Chemical Industries and from there to dozens of places in British commercial life. His posts included the chairmanship of the London, Scottish and Midland Railway, which paid $75,000 a year.

In December, 1923, he was named British member of a board of experts appointed by the reparations commission to determine Germany's capacity to pay for the World war. In June 1924, he helped draft the Dawes plan for collection of German payments and five years later represented Great Britain at the reparations conference in Paris which evolved the Young plan at the Bank For International Settlements.

Stamp was married in 1903 to Olive Marsh and four sons were born to them. Lady Stamp won recognition in her own right as a justice of the peace in Kent, president of the National Free Church Women's Council and as governor of University College, Aberystwyth.

Cool Toward New Deal
Her husband won a bachelor of science degree from London University in 1911 and a doctorate in 1916. He had "honorary degrees from Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburgh and Leeds in Great Britain; from McGill, Toronto and Western Ontario in Canada; from Harvard, Columbia, California, Northwestern, Syracuse, Duke and Washington & Lee in the United States and from Athens, Greece, and Lisbon, Portugal. He was a Knight of Grace, Order of St. John of Jerusalem and possessed the grand star of the Austrian Order of Merit.

Baron Stamp always kept in close touch with affairs in the United States. In the early days of the New Deal he saw much to be commended in the program, but by 1935 he was doubtful if its wisdom. On June 9, 1938, as he arrived at New York from England, he said the political attitude of Americans—"you think of your politics emotionally"—was a factor in the "recession," adding:

"It is difficult here to discuss anything without having Roosevelt brought into it. A conversation can start with Plato and come around to him."

Sublette

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Bauer and family were entertained with Sunday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seigfried Grosch of Lemoille.

The many friends of the Wolf family attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Adam Wolf of Mendota Sunday afternoon. The sympathy of this community is extended to the Wolf family.

George Becker and Gust Bauer attended a soil conservation meeting at the Farm Bureau office in Amboy, Monday evening.

Misses Bernadine and Ruth Bauer and Master Norman Bauer were guests Sunday afternoon at the home of the Fetzer sisters.

The Amboy Township high school is host today to all prospective graduates of this community. It is a fine idea to have these pupils spend a day in the high school in order to get acquainted.

The teachers of the Sublette Reading circle, who have graduates will meet with the Amboy group in Amboy this Wednesday night at 4 P. M. for the purpose of making plans for the spring graduation exercises.

The regular meeting of the Sublette Community parents and teachers will be held Friday night. The officers for the coming year are to be elected. A hobby show will be the feature of the evening. There will be short talks by local hobby enthusiasts. There will be several numbers by the music group of the Sublette and Bartlett schools. Coffee and doughnuts will be served by the committee. Please bring your own sandwiches.

Plans are progressing nicely for the annual rural school music festival, April 25 at Dixon. School elections were in order last Saturday. Ed Wolf was re-elected director of Bartlett school. Grover Roloff was elected to office of school director of the Sublette public school.

Soy Beans Highest Priced Article on Trade in Exchange

Chicago, April 17—(AP)—A 30 cents a bushel rise in the price of soybeans in the past six weeks has brought an increase of more than $7,000,000 in the value of stocks estimated to be still in farmers' hands, according to market statistics today.

This extraordinary advance, accompanied by the heaviest trading on record in the Chicago Board of Trade soybean futures pit, only marketplace of its kind in the world, may do much to alter farmers' spring planting intentions, grain men said. Prices are now the highest since December, 1939.

Trade authorities said that the value of beans has been increased largely because of a war stimulated demand for soybean oil. The oil, eight to 10 pounds of which is obtained from a bushel of beans, has shared in the demand for all types of competitive oils and fats, including cottonseed oil and lard.

Because of the many uses to which these oils can be put in modern industry, including manufacture of explosives, the national rearmament program and the setup in industrial activity have been market factors. The price of beans has risen from around 92 cents since March 21 to above $1.20 a bushel, which makes them the highest priced article, bushel for bushel, traded on the Board of Trade. Earlier in the season the beans sold as low as 60 cents.

During this period of advance the value of oil has risen from 3½ cents to almost 8 cents a pound, equivalent of the approximate advance in a bushel of beans.

Stocks of beans remaining on farms in Illinois, major producing state, on April 1, were estimated at 10,893,000 bushels, or about 31 per cent of the 1940 crop. Traders estimated that if this movement was representative of other producing states, farmers still had about 24,000,000 bushels on hand. Of this, traders estimated, approximately 14,600,000 bushels may be needed for seed when planting begins next month.

GUESTS AT MANSSION

Springfield, Ill., April 17—(AP)—Newspapermen regularly assigned to the legislature and the statehouse were dinner guests of Governor and Mrs. Dwight H. Green last night at the executive mansion.

An average electric consumer in 1940 used 952 kilowatt hours and paid an average bill of $36.56, as compared to 897 kilowatt hours and $35.88 in 1939.

Polo Man Fined in Ogle County Court

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, Roy Piper, 50, Polo, was fined $100 and costs by County Judge Philip H. Nye at Ogle County Wednesday afternoon. His driver's license was suspended for six months. Piper was arrested Tuesday night in Polo by Chief of Police Joseph Powell of that city.

Clyde McLaughlin, 23, Rock Falls, was taken before Police Magistrate John C. Wadie in Ogle County yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. His bond was set at $500 and his case continued to the latter part of this week in Ogle County court.

McLaughlin was arrested Tuesday night in Polo by Police Officer Leslie Cupp.

Four Men Enlisted Here for Air Corps

Sgt. Emmory W. Jones, Army Air Corps recruiting officer now located at the Dixon Chamber of Commerce today announced the enlistment of the following:

Ted W. Morris of Amboy for Air Corps at Chanute Field.

William H. McNulty of Kearney, Nebraska, for Air Corps at Chanute Field.

Ray F. Madsen of Walnut for Air Corps at Chanute Field.

Harold R. Beasley of Creal Springs, Ill., who has been working at the state hospital, has been enlisted for the Engineer Corps, Hawaiian department.

According to reports from Corps Area Headquarters the Air Corps needs about 110,000 men for mechanics and that will mean that the number of non-commissioned officer grades and specialist ratings will have to be given out to the men who show they can do the work and are qualified for the non-commissioned officer grade ratings, as well as the specialist ratings that will be available.

Wins Bet; to Collect In Denver Hospital

Denver, Colo., April 17—(AP)—Lester F. Guthrie won a bet, but he will have to collect it in a hospital.

He wagered that he could break a beer glass by squeezing it in his hands.

It shattered, inflicting severe lacerations.

Factories in the U. S. produce about 25 million pairs of suspenders and 18 million pairs of garters each year.

Population of New South Wales is estimated at 2,700,000.

Annual Banquet of Medusa Company Workers Is Held

More than 200 employees of the Medusa Cement Co. enjoyed the company's annual banquet last evening at the Brinton Memorial Masonic Temple, which was attended by several of the company officials from Cleveland, Ohio. The officers remained in Dixon and were today inspecting the company's plant east of the city.

Superintendent L. E. Smith and John Nieves were presented with handsome gold watches at the banquet, both having been in the service of the company for 25 years. During the evening, a musical program was furnished under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bishop.

Officials of the company who were present were, President J. B. Johns, general superintendent W. J. Worthie, treasurer P. C. Dawson, secretary Fred Bickford, sales manager A. T. McCormick, purchasing agent F. W. Carstens, all of Cleveland, Ohio; central western sales manager L. E. DeCamp and silo manager Walter Brey of Chicago.

Italian Editor Warns Uncle Sam to Appease Axis Before War's End

Rome, April 17—(AP)—Virginio Gayda, authoritative fascist journalist, today advised the United States to appease the axis before England goes down to what he described as "more certain" defeat.

If America persists in her present course in aiding England, the editor wrote in Il Giornale D'Italia, her action "may be guilty evidence of a hostile policy, which in the end will turn back upon the country."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

IHC Workers File Demand for Boost in Wages at Once

Chicago, April 17—(AP)—An "immediate" wage increase of 10 cents an hour at eight of the International Harvester Company's midwestern plants were sought today by the C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee.

A telegram asking for negotiations on the pay boost was sent Tuesday to Sydney McAllister, Harvester president, from Grant Oakes, national chairman of the F. E. W. O. C.

The wage increase was sought for the McCormick, tractor and West Pullman Works in Chicago, and plants at Milwaukee, Wis., Richmond, Ind., and Rock Falls, Rock Island, and East Moline, Ill.

The F. E. W. O. C. sponsored recent strikes at four Harvester plants and an F. E. W. O. C. spokesman said that new strikes "are a definite possibility" unless steps are taken soon for a wage increase.

An increase of 12½ cents an hour in the minimum pay scale was one of the demands made by the F. E. W. O. C. During the strikes at the McCormick, tractor, Richmond and Rock Falls plants. Strikers returned to work March 31 after the dispute was sent to the National Defense Mediation Board for settlement.
